Health care

- Yukoners can choose one other household to join up with and don't have to practise physical distancing with people in that household: <https://yukon.ca/en/news/may-19-2020-covid-19-update>
- Outdoor visits for long-term care residents are now permitted.
- To help Yukoners at risk during this pandemic, vulnerable populations can now access mental health and social supports online.

Travel and borders

- Starting July 1, residents of British Columbia and Yukon will be allowed to travel back and forth without the need to self-isolate for 14 days. Residents of the Northwest Territories and Nunavut will also be allowed to enter Yukon.
- Additionally on July 1 residents of other parts of Canada can visit if they isolate in Whitehorse for 14 days. This is not recommended, but it will be possible
- As of July 1 gatherings of up to 50 can take place and restaurants can operate at full capacity, both circumstances still require safe distancing
- Individuals entering Yukon's airports must wear a mask starting July 1.
- The Government of Canada will now require temperature screenings for all passengers travelling to and from Canada.
- Canada and the U.S. have extended the current border measures until July 21, keeping borders closed to non-essential travel.
- Territorial campgrounds are open with some restrictions: www.Yukon.ca/camping
- Parks Canada has opened camping at Kluane National Park and Reserve.
- Anyone entering Yukon must check in with an Enforcement or CBSA Officer and provide their destination, contact information, and declaration.

Businesses and financial relief

- Visitor information centers in Yukon opened on July 1.
- The Governments of Yukon and Canada have taken steps to support local workers and businesses: <https://yukon.ca/en/covid-19-support-yukoners>
- Updated guidance for critical and essential service delivery was released: <https://yukon.ca/en/news/june-5-2020-covid-19-update>
- Residential tenants who are under a health protection measure after June 25 or who need to breach their tenancy agreement because they are under a COVID-19 health protection order are protected from eviction.
